

Jeanne Weaver, Williamston, MI

Jeanne Weaver has been raising, training, using and competing with working stock dogs for more than thirty years. She is a nationally known handler of working Border Collies and has been a member of the United States Border Collie Handlers Association for fifteen years.

She has trained and competed with seven different Open trial winners and National Finals qualifiers, including Liz, who won the Canadian National Championship in 2006. She has been offering lessons, clinics and demonstrations for twenty years. Her students have competed successfully in virtually every trial venue available in the US.

The other love of her life is her Quarter Horses. She enjoys using her horse and dogs to “set out sheep” for competitors at Trials. She discovered Extreme Cowboy races and competed with her youngster, Cash for the first time in August. This will be her first attempt at combining horse and dogs in a demonstration.
