

Kimberly Cardeccia, Michigan

Kimberly Cardeccia is a Licensed Professional Counselor who has been involved with horses for 30 years. She also has 10 years of teaching experience in public schools, focusing on elementary physical education. Her expertise in the study of kinesiology gives her a unique perspective from which to address rider's block and other obstacles in training. She combines her professional skills as a licensed counselor and physical education teacher with her passion for horses in order to help individuals reach their full potential as a rider and as a person.

With a unique style of compassionate guidance, Kim emphasizes communication and safety-both physical and emotional-in her work with people and horses. She has carved a niche for herself as an intuitive riding instructor, and helps her students to tap into their own intuition to better reach their goals.

Her training areas of specialty are riders overcoming fears and anxieties, and adult beginners who want to use their riding to get the most out of life. She also specializes in equine assisted learning and psychotherapy.

Kim will be presenting programs each day in Seminar Room A, consult the schedule for exact times. For further information about Kim, visit her website at: www.hiddenpromisecampus.com
